Mrs. M. McQuarrie and Mrs. S. Penney were appointed delegates to the Red Cross Convention held in Medicine Hat.

The annual White House egg roll is a time variation of an Easter custom that used to sweep the ancients off their feet.

Nowadays the custom involves hordes of youngsters who converge on the Executive Mansion to send their eggs bowling down the grassy slopes of the White House lawn.

But in the days when England was as hardy as it was merry, people used to roll themselves down a hill!

Research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia reveal that the English — joyful over the return of spring and the Resurrection of Christ — tumbled down

Greenwich Hill at Easter. Eventually they tired of the sport — or its accompanying bruises — and substituted eggs.

One reason why the egg comes in for such a beating is that traditionally it is a symbol of life. Just as the dead winter gives away from death—the message of Easter to spring, the lifeless-looking egg produces the chick.

Letter To The Editor

The following letters were received by The Journal from Dr. L. E. Kindt, Progressive Conservative member of the Federal Government for this constituency:

"House of Commons
Ottawa, Ont.
March 5, 1959.

Mr. D. B. Young, General Manager, Coleman Collieries Limited, Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Mr. Young:

Further to our telephone conversation of today, I understand that the Secretary of the Committee on Mines, Forests and Water will be extending to you an official request to give evidence before the Committee in Ottawa on March 17 at 10 a.m. Most of the evidence will be concerned with industry in the Crows Nest Pass:

1.—The Shipment of Alberta Coal to Japan—

(a) Since you were a member of the coal mission to Japan in November, 1958, would you be prepared to state your views on the Japanese market for Alberta coal?

(b) As you know, the present government has placed a $4 subvention on western Canadian coal shipments to Japan. Would you be prepared to discuss the justification and desirability of continuing the present $4 subvention?

2.—The Western Ontario Market for Alberta Coal—

The present government placed a $4 subvention on Alberta coal shipments to western Ontario. Would you be prepared to state your views on this market for Alberta coal? Also, would you be prepared to state your views on the desirability of continuing the present $4 subvention?

3.—The Potentiality for Thermoelectric Power Development—

Would you be prepared to discuss the merits of thermoelectric power development in the Crows Nest Pass in relation to international hydro-electric developments under consideration in the East Kootenay area?

The proceedings at these committee hearings follow the question and answer method. It would be well to think over what you intend to say, and then suggest questions to bring out the points. However, much of the questioning is off-the-cuff. If you can spare the time, plan to arrive a day early to allow for preliminary discussions and preparations.

Yours sincerely,
Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.
Federal Constituency of Macleod."

Old Age Pensioners Hold Regular Monthly Meeting

The treasurer's report was read and accepted. The treasurer stated there were 103 members paid up to date.

We are all sorry to hear Mr. Burns was a patient in hospital and hoped he would soon be well and about again.

Under unfinished business it was decided to discuss the matter of transportation of members to and from the meetings at a later date.

The new Entertainment committee appointed was: Mr. and Mrs. Hammer and Mr. and Mrs. Horn.

It was then moved we adjourn with the singing of "The Queen". Afterwards we all played bingo and then lunch was served which we all enjoyed.

Evelyn Jones,
Pres. Corr.

"House of Commons

March 5, 1959.

J. F. Dugdale, Esq., Secretary-Treasurer, Bellevue Local 7294, District 18, United Mine Workers of America, P.O. Box 157, Bellevue, Alberta.

Dear Mr. Dugdale:

Mr. Young, General Manager of Coleman Collieries Limited, has been called to give evidence on a number of topics before the Standing Committee of Mines, Forests and Water at Ottawa.

Mr. Boyd was in my office recently, and he was of the opinion that Mr. Young should be very well qualified to give evidence on the Japanese coal market situation because he was on the mission to Japan. The Committee can summons only one witness from an area.

I was pleased to learn that orders have been received from Japan, and that the Crows Nest Pass will share to the extent of about 40,000 tons of those orders.

Yours sincerely,
Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.
Federal Constituency of Macleod."

Minor Hockey Bake Sale Real Success

The bake sale held on March 6 to aid Minor Hockey was a decided success.

Space in the Drug Store was very kindly donated by Mr. Poxon and the sum of $79.50 was realized.

The mothers of the players are to be commended for their effort as also are those who have no boys playing, but gave unsolicited donations.

Such support shows a healthy community interest in our young people.

The Coleman Athletic Association appreciates the assistance in their all-out effort to keep the youngsters in the game.

Dr. Peter Allen Awarded Gold Medal

SOUTHERN ALBERTA PIONEER LADY PASSES AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. R. Donaldson of Cranbrook, B. C. son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. M. Dewar, travelled through Coleman last week en route to Lethbridge, being called due to the illness and death of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Evelyn Donaldson, age 88 years, an old-time resident of that city for the past 50 years.

Red Cross Water Safety officials report there are still openings for additional applicants in the Easter Instructor Training courses being held in Edmonton and Calgary on March 30 to April 3.

Candidates for the courses must be 16 years of age and good swimmers.

As applications for the course are limited persons wishing to take the course are asked to apply as soon as possible to the Director, Red Cross Water Safety Service, 9931, 106th St., Edmonton, Alberta.

Large Trees Are Hazards

Coleman town work crews have removed several large cottonwood trees near the school fence at the main school.

The cottonwood trees, some 50 feet high, were considered dangerous as this type of tree rots in the centre and can be blown over during wind storms.

Although the town regretted having to remove the trees, it was felt that they were a hazard more than an asset.

Canadian Red Cross shipments of drugs went half way around the world last year to help curb epidemics in Thailand and Pakistan.

Town Council Hold Meeting

Coleman town council met on Tuesday evening when reports were given on the progress being made on the winter works projects.

It was reported that the rock walls being built in the channel of Nez Perce Creek through the town park were completed and that laying of pavement in the creek bed and building several small miniature falls in the creek would be done later when weather permitted. It was also indicated that the new bridge on Second street over the Nez Perce Creek was completed and that the town men were now continuing with the construction of 24-inch concrete storm sewer, which will be laid in ditches later this season. While discussing drainage problems in town, several more areas were considered for the installation of the concrete storm sewer.

It was disclosed at the meeting that the Old Age Pensioners' home to be built in Puncher Creek would be built on a site south east of the school. Council then held a discussion regarding correspondence from the department on the various phases of costs of operation should another Old Age Pensioners' home be built in the Crows Nest Pass.

Council re-appointed an assessor from the Department of Municipal Affairs to do the 1956 annual assessment.

The police report was read for the past two months and showed a good deal of work had been done by this department.

Chowders... "Easy Come, Easy Go"

LENTEN FEATURE

"Easy come. Easy go."

When you stir up a kettle of chowder, you see how fittingly this carefree old slogan fits the savoury eating that comes forth. And how timely for this Lenten season. March winds send appetites soaring like kites. And your hungry howls sail in for supper, ready to eat everything in sight. As early New Englanders and Maritime folk found best buffer to March winds is a steaming kettle; with seafood and vegetables adrift in a tantalizing broth.

Many a historic feast has centered around a peppery chowder. Who hasn't read Moby Dick, and hungered for a whale-side bowl of the fish chowder which perfumed the air of Nantucket inn? Descriptions of French and Italian coastal villages often tell glowingly of soups that magically mingle seafood and vegetables — like those we can enjoy from Atlantic to Pacific shores.

Coast to coast, all across the U.S. and Canada, families scurry to the kitchen when chowder sends out savoury signals. In true 1959 style, they often find Mom busily brewing... mixing cans of prepared soups to make magnificent chowders. This is the kind of beautiful still another garnish idea — crow-broth she can render up — with out setting foot near ocean or to the Irish stew or your pet holiday dish.

CRAB-VEGETABLE SOUP

1 can (10 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 1/2 soup cans milk
1 can (10 ounces) condensed vegetable soup
1 cup flaked cooked crab (small can)

Blend mushroom soup with milk; stir in vegetable soup and crab; heat. Garnish with grated lemon rind, if desired. 6 servings.

LIVEN BREAKFAST WITH V-8

Put a tingle into breakfast with sparkling red V-8 juice. Perch a wedge of lemon or lime on the edge of each glassful for those who like extra zing. On a cold morning, heat the juice for a pleasing chillsaser. It wakes up appetites for proper appreciation of the ham and eggs with cinnamon toast.

SOUP HONOURS ST. PAT

"Watrin' o' the green" for St. Pat's day includes a bright touch of colour on the dinner table. Start with savoury hot bowls of green pea or cream of asparagus soup. Gently stir a puff of whipped cream (unsweetened) or sour cream atop each bowl. A sprig of watercress at the tiptop will look for all the world like a shamrock. Still another garnish idea — crou-broth she can render up — with out setting foot near ocean or to the Irish stew or your pet holiday dish.

Live Better Electrically With All The Latest Advances

When Thomas Edison died in 1931, it was suggested that electrical power be shut off for one minute on the day of his funeral. Can you imagine the chaos if the suggestion had been acted upon?

No telephones for urgent or emergency calls, cars piled up at busy cross streets with no traffic control lights, hospital services endangered. Without signal systems there would be no fire and police protection, no plane or train controls. It was quite obvious that we couldn't afford to be without electricity even for 60 seconds!

Canadians use more electricity in their homes than any other people on earth. And consumption is more than doubling every decade.

In almost all of our homes today, besides lighting, there are at least nine types of electrical appliances or "servants". You could say that nine is the very minimum required by the average Canadian family. They are all very familiar—the range, refrigerator, washer, toaster, iron, kettle, vacuum cleaner, radio and television.

Most homes have many more, with 30 being nearer the mark. Large electrical servants such as water heaters and dryers, freezers and dishwashers, smaller units like clocks, fans, Hi-Fi, electric blankets, coffee makers, food mixers and sun lamps. The list is long and grows longer — 70 or more at latest count.

It would seem that those who work on new ways of putting electricity to work for us must have just about figured every possible use for electricity in the home. Actually, this is just the beginning. Let's take a look at some of the exciting new developments — here or just around the corner.

Color TV is already on the market. Today, it's expensive, tomorrow we will all enjoy color programs as well as black and white. And in the field of television there are more great advances coming up. The picture tube — which gets slimmer every year — may be done away with completely. Some day soon, we'll be able to hang thin TV screens on the walls, for "wide-screen" viewing. Magnetic tape will let us record sound and picture to be played back at our leisure.

In the kitchen, electronics has already made its presence felt. New ranges that can cook a six-pound roast in 36 minutes, or a nine-pound turkey in one hour, a cake in three or four minutes. And nothing is lost in flavor, aroma or nutritional value.

Electro-luminescent panels may soon supply all our lighting needs. Installed on the walls and ceilings, we will be able to decorate our homes simply by controlling the intensity and color of the light transmitted by the panels.

Now coming into use in some parts of the continent is the heat pump. There is little doubt that eventually the heat pump in some form will look after both heating and cooling in the home.

The wonderful world of electricity and electronics is full of surprises.

Some of these advances are still being developed, many are now on the drawing boards of our leading manufacturers. The future looks bright, the resources of a vast and important industry are harnessed to help us all Live Better Electrically.

Let's now take a look at this industry today.

In Canada the electrical industry supplies highly skilled jobs for over 175,000 people. It is a vital part of every province and every community — enabling Canadians everywhere to enjoy its benefits. The electrical industry is diversified with each segment having a particular place in the over-all scheme.

The utilities provide us with low-cost dependable power. As a result, the typical Canadian home uses over 3700 kilowatt hours of electricity each year — or 20 per cent more than the average U.S. household.

The electrical manufacturers supply the 70 or more electrical "servants" now available through your local appliance stores.

Product designs are subject to the strictest safety and efficiency testing carried out by the Canadian Standards Association. As a result, Canadians buy with confidence more major appliances, per capita than any other people in the world. It is important to look for the C.S.A. seal of approval on electrical equipment.

The electrical distributor maintains a smooth flow of materials to all parts of the nation. The electrical contractor makes the installations, the inspector gives the final safety check.

Here you have seven segments of the industry, each with a different job to do, but all helping us Live Better Electrically.

A Strong Red Cross

At some time in the near future a neighbor will call at your home. The visit will be a friendly one as your caller will be on a mission of mercy.

The visitor will be a volunteer canvasser for the Canadian Red Cross annual appeal for funds. That person will be one of the many thousands of men and women who will knock on the doors of the nation during Red Cross Month to seek financial support for the Red Cross.

It has been said that the work of the Red Cross is people helping people and through its work everyone helps and everyone benefits. The annual appeal of the Red Cross is not an emotional appeal of the moment because the many Red Cross services and programs are provided throughout the year on a round-the-clock basis. They form a long list of essential projects for our community, our nation and the world.

This year the Canadian Red Cross Society celebrates half-century of service to the nation and the world. Its work during the most eventful period of our history has kept pace with the growth of a vigorous country. Through the generosity of our people the Canadian Red Cross has been enterprising and able to meet its many humanitarian obligations in peace and war.

Since granting of its Charter in 1909 the Canadian Red Cross has grown strong and now plays an important role in the life of more than 1900 communities. People have always been willing to serve others under the traditional symbol of the Red Cross and their help and support has made the record of Red Cross a most enviable one.

This year the Red Cross looks back over 50 years of achievement and looks forward to the years of the future. A strong Red Cross is an asset to our nation and it is the responsibility of every citizen to maintain this position. We can do this by volunteering our dollars. A generous contribution this year will keep our Red Cross ready and able to serve everyone.

Of Many Things (By Ambrose Hills)

Compulsion Backfires

When various forms of compulsory marketing were being promoted in the west those in favor of such plans frequently quoted the Ontario hog marketing scheme as a sample of the success of such things.

Western farmers who rejected compulsory marketing will read with interest the findings of Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario's Supreme Court.

Not only did the court declare the last vote, which approved compulsory marketing, to be null and void, it had some sharp criticism of the manner in which the Board used its wide, serious powers in an off-hand way with hog producers. Indeed, the Chief Justice thought the Marketing Board scheme was pretty poorly handled, and the way the regulations were formulated was confusing beyond his comprehension.

hension. When requested to present minutes of Board meetings to show when and how the vote was planned or the regulations introduced, Board's counsel could not or would not do so.

At one point the Chief Justice described the whole procedure followed by the Board as "so frightfully confused, so steeped in irregularity." He commented "we are dealing with very fundamental human rights handled in an off-hand way."

Because of all this, some 600 hog producers were able to get an injunction restraining the Marketing Board from taking any action on the vote. But getting free of such schemes is not that easy! If the Board so desires, it may still enforce the 1949 regulations, which are very similar to the 1957 regulations which recently were quashed by Mr. Justice Ferguson.

Now there will be another vote; but what regulations will be enforced in the mean time, I do not know, nor I suppose do the farmers.

And who knows how the vote will go? Ontario has some 78,000 hog producers and the chances are that less than half of them will vote. It is entirely possible that about one-third of the producers will manage to keep 100 per cent of producers under the rule of the Board, thus denying freedom to some 12,000 producers actively against such compulsion and to other thousands who don't seem to know or care just what is happening.

Whenever vast powers are handed to small groups of men, fundamental human rights are in jeopardy. This was the case in Ontario. It might be the same in any province.

An Appeal For Clothing

"A permanent depot has recently been opened in Lethbridge by the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada for the collection of good used clothing of all kinds to be sent to Korea, the Middle East, India, Greece and other parts of the world where it is desperately needed. Articles of adult and children's clothing which should have at least six months' wear remaining, children's and men's shoes (it has been found impractical to collect overseas and women's shoes) will be gratefully received at the depot which is located at the home of Mrs. Peter Hepler, 2409 - 11th Ave. S.E., Lethbridge. Blankets, sheets, warm suits, pyjamas, etc., are specially needed and anyone having used clean baby clothing will find a warm welcome for such articles. Small amounts of left-over wool yarn will also be put to use by volunteer knitters and may be left at the Bank of Montreal in Lethbridge, where there is a basket for collection purposes, or at the above address.

All articles received are packed in Lethbridge and sent to Calgary through the kindness of local trucking firms. From Calgary it is sent to centres overseas where the need is greatest."

Red Cross Names Contest Winners

More than 250 high school students in Alberta submitted entries in the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service caricature and naming contest launched early in the year by the Alberta Division C.R.S.C.

Prizes of $50 for the best caricature and $25 for the best name identifying the Blood Transfusion Service were donated by the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Assn.

A panel of four judges chose the caricature submitted by Roger Andersen, 2406, 47th Ave. S.E., Calgary, as the best entry.

Given Honorable Mention were: Marvin Rabaste and John Mount, Western Canada high school, Calgary; Pat Stauffer, Strathcona high school, Edmonton; Walter Origt, Leduc senior high school, Leduc, Alberta, and Ruby Siemen, Beaupre school, Onoway, Alberta.

The winner, Roger Andersen, is 19 years of age and a grade 12 student at Western Canada high.

A native of Calgary, he hopes to make commercial art his career.

Named "Happy Hemo"

The best name entered for the caricature was "Happy Hemo" submitted by Garry Miller, Strathcona composite high student in Edmonton. Given Honorable Mention in this department were: Carolyn Baczuk of Milk River, with "Daddy the Donor" and Lauraine Olson, Coutts, with "Percy Plasma".

Judges for the contest included school art supervisors in Calgary and Edmonton and representatives from the promotion department of CHOT-TV in Calgary and the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.

The contest was classified as a most successful venture by both the Red Cross officials and judges who felt the competition had been of great educational value in alerting students to the purpose and value of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.
